Both sides need to stop with the personal information. There are a lot of crazy people out there that could harm someone. There's no need for it to be public.

I don't love that they didn't redact her information. But I also find it interesting she hasn't been available to be served by now.

Why hasn't her counsel responded in over a month? Vacation? Wouldn't the firm have someone else monitoring and responding to emails if her lawyer isn't able to?

They doxed the address, including apt number and super's telephone number, of a place where three residents said she didn't live at?

And they doxed the address and license plate of two cars found at the second location????

I find it extremely odd that the document that "confirmed in writing" that this guy is her attorney is NOT part of the filing. Is that normal?

The also didn't redact the super's phone number (and provided his first name). Seems odd as his phone number is not needed for the affidavit (unlike her addresses).

Why wait until July to subpoena Ferrer? They should've already done so

Why is the border around this filing "US BANKRUPTCY"?

Guys she doesn't have any money she's like a waitress ... I have a feeling she's not paying council ergo council is not responding

I'm really confused by the comments here. I thought the judge only just ruled today that numbers and emails don't need permission to be redacted. So I'm assuming that WF filed this before seeing the judge's order. I'm also trying to understand why they should have redacted the addresses, when that wasn't part of the order. Can someone clarify? Thanks!

It could be a couple things- the judge a few weeks ago said that nonparties addresses should be redacted. Prior to that order, BL parties didn't redact addresses and "team JB" had an uproar about it, even though addresses weren't included in the PO in place and they're not included in the FRCP as info that should be redacted
